ASKS $10,000 FOR 'LIVE WIRE' INJURY

Harry H. Dalby, a locomotive engineer of DuBois, entered suit in the Prothonotary's office this morning against The Central District Telephone company in which he asks $10,000 damages for personal injuries received when he came in contact with a live wire hanging from a pole of the defendant company in front of his residence in Sandy township, immediately adjoining DuBois borough.

The accident occurred August 13, 1916 and according to Dalby's allegations caused him permanent injury. The wire which shocked Dalby belonged to the DuBois Street Railway company which was using the telephone company's poles. Workmen were engaged in repairing the line and had cut the pole in front of Dalby's residence off at the ground with the result that the wire hung low over the sidewalk.

Dalby coming out of his gate noticed the wire and was endeavoring to remove it when he came in contact with a "live wire" carrying 1100 volts of electricity. He was knocked down and his left hand and arm badly burned, the little finger being almost severed from his hand.

Since that time he suffered great pain and was incapacitated for a long time and is permanently injured. Dalby's attorneys are A. M. Liveright and James A. Gleason.

HOW THE COBWEBS OF RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY ARE BEING WIPED AWAY

"NO TIME TO BE HATING EACH OTHER"

By Arthur E. Hungerford
London, Aug. 10—"This is no time to be hating each other for the love of God," exclaimed a Roman Catholic priest, when a newcomer from the States remarked about his work in a Y. M. C. A. hut in England. This remark has gone up and down the American camps in France and England and typifies the spirit of Roman Catholics and Protestants alike in working for the common good of the American soldier.

At a great rest camp in England where thousands of American troops are sent after landing to rest for six or seven days before going on to France, a man, who back home is a Presbyterian minister, may be heard urging Roman Catholic soldiers to make their confessions and to go to mass. More than that he arranges for the priest to visit the camp, turn his office over for a confessional and prepares the hut for mass at 9.30 on Sunday morning.

This man is the Rev. G. William Russell, who was assistant pastor of Bethlehem Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. Here is a typical example of how the cobwebs of the spiritual warfare of the Roman Catholics. It took place on a Friday evening.

"How many of you are Roman Catholics?" he asked of a crowd of soldiers gathered in a "Y" hut. More than half of them raised their hands.

"Men, I have arranged for Father Gale, an English Chaplain, to come tomorrow night to receive your confessions. He will use my office. He will celebrate Mass on Sunday morning at 9.30 in his hut. Won't you come? I am a Protestant, but you men have just escaped the perils of the summer. Attend mass and then write home to your mothers or wives or sweethearts that one of the first things you did upon landing was to make your confession, attend mass and thank God for your safety. We have a Roman Catholic secretary here. If any of you want to meet him you may do so by asking for him."

Nearly every man attended mass and many called on the Rev. Mr. Russell to thank him for giving them the opportunity to do so.

At a camp in Ireland, where the American Y. M. C. A. is compelled to use a building, the original owners of which put a stipulation in the deed that it should never be used for a Roman Catholic service of any kind, the Association secretary every Sunday morning arranges a church party for the Roman Catholic soldiers and carries them in trucks to their church three miles away. After service he brings them back.

The services conducted by the Y. M. C. A. are attended not only by Protestants, but also by Jews and Roman Catholics. They are not formal to say the least. At some of the huts the men are allowed to smoke during religious services. This comes as a shock to many of the new workers and ministers. It must be remembered, however, that the services are held in "Y" huts which not only serve as the religious, social and recreational centers but frequently as the general stores of the camps. As one secretary put it:

"I would rather have a religious service in a hut chock full of men smoking, than a more formal service with only one or two men inside and all the rest turned out of doors. A religion that won't stand every day wear and tear won't last long over here. I have learned many things since I came over here. That is one of them."

"Harris Dickson the writer was right when he said that many of us men came over here with long faces, but thank God they are growing shorter every day. Mine has grown considerably shorter. I have learned over here the practical side of religion."

A nice thing happened to the Rev. Mr. Russell. A Philadelphia boy was afraid his mother might worry about the kind of life he was leading. He told Mr. Russell about it.

"Don't worry about that. I will write to her," he said and in reply received a letter saying in part:

"I attended the farewell service given you at Bethlehem Church Philadelphia. I contributed to the money given you, but I did not realize that it would be my boy that you would be over there."

SICKENING GERMANY

Steadily disease gains on the German people. Intestinal disorder are rampant. Tuberculosis has increased 75 per cent over 1914 and pneumonia mortality has doubled. A strange kind of influenza prevalent in the empire has extended to the armies. Infant mortality is five a hundred greater than before the war, a great increase. All this, or the most of it, is to be attributed to the lower food ration. It has been estimated that for a healthy and normal life 2400 calories of food are necessary daily. The present daily allowance in Germany is just half that amount, or 1200 calories. And it must go down unless great aid comes from Russia.—Topeka Capital.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Holy communion service was observed in Grace Lutheran church Sunday forenoon.

Herold Daugherty, who has been working for a bridge company for some time past, is home for a short vacation.

Henry Kirk, a son of H. P. Kirk, Curwensville's jeweler, is wrestling with an attack of measles at the home of a relative in Philipsburg.

Messrs. Manuel and Paul Harley have contracted for the painting of several houses and a barn at Hyne City. They are a pair of painters whose work has always stood the test.

Supintendent Al Maurer with his family and some friends autoed out to the Bickford hunting camp yesterday and spent the day in the cool of the shade.

It is said among real estate men that Jerry McNaull has purchased the old Schoed property on Susquehanna avenue from the owners, Mr. and Mrs. John Shearer, paying the sum of $2,500 for the same.

A four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Erhard died last Thursday and was buried from the home of its grandparents on Meadow street on Saturday afternoon. The little one had been ill for several weeks.

A number of Curwensville people accompanied the Crescent band to Giampan yesterday afternoon where the raising of a big flag took place. One of the largest crowds that has been in Giampan for many days was in attendance.

A letter from Sergeant Ray Hile states that the thermometer at Camp Lee last week registered 117 degrees and that forty ambulances were kept busy hauling heat prostrations to the hospitals. He reports all of the Curwensville boys in good health, and that some of them are making enviable records as sharp shooters on the rifle range.

The friends of John Caldwell, who has been partially paralyzed for more than a year and also suffering from other diseases, will be pleased to learn that he is slowly getting better and is now able to walk about with the aid of crutches. It is to be hoped that he will recover fully, and be able to greet his town friends in person before long.

A brakeman on one of the B. & P. freight trains had one of his arms badly crushed Saturday afternoon by having it caught between the cars. The accident occurred while some work was being done on the road between the brick yard and the station. Dr. King attended him and he was sent to the hospital on the noon train. His brother, who was also a trainman, was killed about a week ago while on duty.

The Curwensville Progress man was informed yesterday afternoon that a twenty-five foot vein of hard fire clay had been uncovered on one of the smaller farms along the river between this place and Lumber City, and that the man who had but recently become the owner of the place, had been offered the sum of $1500 outright for the material. We have some reason for believing this authentic, as we were told several weeks ago that the clay had been developed by men who were prospecting for coal. We were also requested not to name the exact location of the name of the owner of the land for the present as it is expected that a larger offer will be made for the clay.

With both creek bridges closed for repairs it is pretty hard for motorists to get anywhere on the south side of Anderson creek. It is only a few years ago that the bridge at the south end of Filbert street was re-floored and repaired at considerable expense.

to the borough. It was supposed at that time that the floor being put down would last for twenty years. The old covered bridge has needed a new floor for a good while therefore they ought to be no kick coming from that direction. Having both bridges closed at the same time makes it mighty inconvenient just the same, but Street Commissioner Sweeney is going to hustle the job along just as fast as he can, so that by the middle of the week, probably, both driveways will be in commission again.

Curwensville people are wondering whether it would be cheaper for this municipality to buy an entire new fire fighting apparatus or to obtain possession of the water plant. Good water is a necessity at any and all times, while fires only occur at intervals and the destruction is always covered partially by insurance. With the water rentals from consumers, together with what the borough is paying out each year for fire protection, would in a few years pay out the purchase price. It is also true that the borough does need some new and more adequate fire apparatus, yet it is believed that most any fire can be controlled with the apparatus now on hand if handled properly. If the fire company is shy on members and have less than is necessary for active service, then let them let it be known and there are enough middle aged men in this town yet who would offer their service in time of need and who can do good work under proper direction. The Rescues have done good work in this town, and no doubt those who still hold membership would work just as hard and faithful to save property as they ever did. To equip the fire department as it ought to be would cost the borough almost half as much as the purchase of the water plant. The people are thinking and talking on both of these important questions, and it will only be a matter of a little time until they will be asked to decide their preference—the water plant or a new fire equipment.

While the offer of the Bickford Refractories company to stock three thousand tons of coal for domestic use this winter is a laudable one and will be appreciated by the people who use ton of that commodity for furnace use, it will not begin to supply the general demand. In conversation with a local dealer the other day we asked him the question "Will there be a lack of coal for domestic use in Curwensville this winter?" He replied that "three thousand tons would help out materially, but that there was more than three times that amount consumed in this town every winter Coal may not be as hard to get this winter as last, but it all depends upon the severity of the season. It is sure to advance a few cents per bushel over that now asked, for the reason that every fellow who has or controls a bank thinks he can make a small fortune in shipping it and putting it in the hands of brokers who put it on the market. I have orders for all of the coal that I can get mined right now, and yet a very few of my customers have had any put in their bins ahead. For my part I would rather see a surplus of coal in the Curwensville market than a scarcity. But just so long as small bankers ship their coal, just so long the price will be higher than it ought to be." People who are putting in their winter supply of coal now are making no mistake.

One of the town physicians, and he travels around enough to know, says that no cases of fever have come to his notice as yet but had not some cases received attention when they did fever certainly would have developed. He strongly advises the people to boil their drinking water all of this month and part of next, August and September are the seasons of the year when fevers of all kinds are most likely to develop.

"Can a man resign from the Y. M. C. A. service at a time like this—I mean, to enlist in the army?"

"Of course you may," replied the secretary.

"If I don't!" exclaimed the preacher.

HANDSOME FLAG IS RAISED AT GRAMPIAN

Hundreds Reverently Bare Heads As Old Glory Is Flung To The Breeze With Song and Music

SPEAKING WAS OF THE BEST

A beautiful Star Spangled Banner floats over the Grampian Hills today after a most inspiring and patriotic meeting held at rampian yesterday afternoon. The weather man provided an ideal sunny afternoon for the flag raising, in fact he threw in a measure or two for luck which compelled the assembled hundreds to seek shade for the remainder of the program. Promptly at three o'clock Old Glory was unfurled to breeze to the music of the Crescent Band of Crowsville and the Liberty Chorus of Clearfield after which Chairman C. A. Woods, Esq., permitted the crowd to vote on whether to go to the grove or not. The eyes had it and the procession quickly formed and marched to the grove where fine addresses were made by Wm. A. Hargerty, Esq., A. R. Chase, Esq., Walter Welch, Esq., L. W. Edwards, Esq., and Squire Woods. The speaking was very much prolonged but not too long for the patriotic people of Grampian who stood through all of it and went away determined to fight by working until Kaiser Bill is fully satisfied that America stands for the freedom of the people of the world. A collection was taken for the Red Cross which netted almost one hundred dollars.

REGIMENT CAPTURES 500 GERMANS

Today's Philadelphia Public Ledger says: "In a letter received last week Roy S. Smeal, of Clearfield, a member of Company L, Twenty-third Infantry, told his mother that his regiment had captured 500 Germans and a number of machine guns during the drive of July 18-19, and while he would like to run home to say 'howdy' to his parents, he recognized that duty demanded that he stay on the job of exterminating the Hun. A day or two later he was killed in action. Roy was nineteen years old, and had worked his way up to a sergeant's rank.

ALLIED TROOPS ENTER BRAY: MOST IMPORTANT CITY WEST OF PERONNE

FRENCH ARTILLERY IS VIGOROUSLY SHELLING ROYE AND NOYON AND BOTH ARE MADE UNTENABLE

JABBING HUNS FROM EVERY ANGLE

By United Press
Allied troops entered Bray, the most important city on the Somme, west of Peronne today. Official London dispatches filed at 1.05 reported the Allies in possession of the western edge of that place.

The Americans in the Somme fighting were reported with the British forces before Bray.

At practically all points on the Somme the advance continued today. The German armies were backed up against the Somme and fighting desperately, appearing unable to stem the forward movement.

On an 18 mile front between the Avre and the Oise the French advanced their line.

British troops recaptured Leihons from which they were driven by German counter attacks and advanced to within 4 miles of Roze. Armancourt and Pillokoy fell to the British in the latter operation. Heavy German counter attacks against the Allied center south of Laon were broken.

The enemy launched violent counter attacks at Roze but despite these the French maintained their advance positions within 4 miles east of that city.

Slowly but steadily the Allies continue the great push against the armies of von Hutier, von Marwitz and the Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. The enemy resistance is stiffening as the result of partial reorganization of the retreating forces at some points. Allied guns, however, now command Nayel, Chauny, Roze and Lassigny, all the important Somme river crossings. Dispatches from Amsterdam said the German press was giving wide circulation to an official note believed to have been issued to prepare the German people for the evacuation of extensive territory between the Avre and the Somme including the cities named. The French war office said officially there was nothing new to report up to noon but that on the Somme the French continue to advance. (Usually French communiqués issued while important operations are under way are limited to only the larger features of the fighting. This rule has been closely adhered to during the present offensive.

German casualties in Picardy are estimated reliably at least 100,000 today. A leading Paris newspaper estimated the number of prisoners taken at 40,000 and the guns taken at 700.

Allied aviators dropped approximately 90 tons of bombs on enemy concentration camps Saturday. Allied artillery are shelling long range guns located near Ham.

Since July 15, the Germans have used 114 divisions or more than 1,350,000 men. Of these, 31 new divisions have been identified at Picardy.

On the Vesle the Germans have reinforced their lines opposite the American sectors. American troops continue to advance today in the face of opposition. Half way up a hill held by the enemy the doughboys this morning encountered heavy small arm fire, forcing them to return to their own positions at the foot of the hill. Twice yesterday the Germans kept up a steady barrage behind the American lines, indicating plans to counter attack. The counter attack, however, did not materialize.

By John De Gandt
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
August 12, 12:40 p. m.—French artillery is violently shelling Roze and Noyon, rendering both towns practically uninhabitable. In the Lassigny region progress is continuing. Our lines are now within 3 kilometers (about 1 3-4 miles) of the town. The French have penetrated Thiescourt Wood which extends northward to within a mile of Lassigny. Premier Clemenceau who has returned from the front, is most enthusiastic.

By Wm. Phillip Simms
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
With The British Army In France, August 12, 1.17 a. m.—Fighting has gradually slowed down the past 24 hours. Hindenburg's reserves have been massed in front of the key positions and have attempted counter attacks without success. The Allies maintained their gains along the whole front. Whatever the future may bring, the first phase of the fighting is over with the Germans at the nearest point 17 miles from Amiens and 16 miles from the Amiens-Paris railway.

CANNON BEING MOUNTED BY HIGH GRADS

Class Of '18 Erecting Handsome Foundations On Which Relics Of '61 Will Be Mounted

USING SURPLUS CLASS MONEY

Contractor Paul Ferguson is at work preparing foundations on the High School lawn for the mounting of the cannon which have been allowed to be neglected in Witmer park for so many years.

These cannons were secured from the war department and presented to Clearfield by the late Hon. James Kerr. The townspeople showed a patriotic fervor when the cannons were received, but soon grew cold and chilly toward the cannon mounting and the relics were allowed to lie in the tall grass of Witmer park ever since.

Mayor Chase in his inaugural address recommended the mounting of the cannon but the borough authorities allowed the recommendation to slide as had been the case in the past.

The class of 1918 of the Clearfield High school, an intensely patriotic bunch of young folks, as was to be expected from a class which sent so many of their number into the army and navy at their country's call for men decided to remove the blot of neglect from Clearfield's official escutcheon and at a recent meeting decided to have the cannon mounted.

A committee was appointed and when the plans had been carefully worked out which provided for the locating of the guns on the lawn in front of the new High school building, the school board was asked for permission to place same there. The Board unanimously agreed to the

LENINE AND TROTSKY REPORTED IN FLIGHT

Paris, Aug. 12.—Reports from Berlin said that Premier Lenin and War Minister Trotsky of the Bolshevik Russian government had fled from Moscow to Kronstadt Island.

CLEARFIELD COUNTIANS ADDED TO HONOR ROLL SINCE LAST SATURDAY

Washington, Aug. 12.—Three army casualty lists totaling 305 names were officially announced by the War Department. They included 57 killed in action; 10 dead from wounds; 2 dead from disease; 4 dead from accidents and other causes; 67 wounded severely; 158 wounded, degree undetermined, and 7 missing in action. This brings the total thus far reported from the Franco-American Marne drive to 5,019.

Aaron Cohen son of Mr and Mrs M. Cohen, of DuBois and a member of Co. H, of the old Tenth regiment, N. G. P., with headquarters at Ridgeway, was killed in action in France on July 25th last according to a message received by his father Sunday last.

Corporal Charles M. Evans, son of Mr and Mrs. George Evans of West Pine street was reported wounded, with degree undetermined in a dispatch received by his parents Saturday evening.

Corporal Evans was one of Clearfield's early volunteers and received his training at Syracuse, N. Y. He

SUBS CONTINUE TO WORK OFF COAST OF MASSACHUSETTS

Washington, Aug. 12.—Destruction of three more vessels off the Atlantic coast by German submarines was officially announced by the Navy department today. The British steamship Penistone was torpedoed by a submarine 12:15 p. m. August 11, 100 miles east of Nantucket, Mass., the navy department announced. An American schooner was sunk by gun fire of a submarine August 11, and a Swedish steamship was reported bombed and sunk 4:30 p. m. August 8, 100 miles southeast of Nantucket. Secretary of Navy Daniels placed no credence in the reports of the capture of the Cyclops by a submarine off the Virginia coast. The message found in a bottle off Baltimore is believed to be a hoax. Daniel's personal opinion is that the Cyclops shifted its cargo and sank. This opinion is shared by every high official of the navy.

proposition and the work was begun. Arthur Rishel son of contractor Ashley Rishel drew the plans for the mounting and the contract for same was given to Paul Ferguson who began on Friday last the work of preparing the foundation or stand for same.

These Foundations will be built substantially of concrete and when completed the mounted guns will be a really artistic addition or embellishment to the school grounds.

The entire expense of the mounting will be borne by the graduating class of 1918, the necessary funds representing the surplus in the class treasury when commencement exercises ended.

J.S. AUGHENBACH SEVERELY HURT IN WRECK

Citizen of O'Shanter Sustains Fractured Skull When Ford Overturns at Embankment

NO HOPE FOR HIS RECOVERY

Jacob S. Aughenbach, of O'Shanter, was seriously and perhaps fatally injured in an automobile accident which occurred between Glen Richey and O'Shanter about 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Aughenbach had quit his work at Glen Richey and was on his way home when he was overtaken by Bob Morgan, who carries the mail between Glen Richey and O'Shanter, and invited to ride with him in his Ford truck.

While bowling along the road at a pretty fair pace the automobile left the road at a turn and rolled over and over down the bank to the railroad tracks below. The driver was thrown clear of the wreck but Mr. Aughenbach was caught by the machine and had the side of his face and head badly scraped and crushed. He received a very serious fracture of the skull and the chances for his recovery are very slim.

Word was at once telephoned to the Clearfield hospital and the ambulance and a couple of nurses dispatched at once to the scene. The terribly injured man was brought to the hospital and an operation was performed on his head Saturday evening. He rallied following the operation and was conscious at intervals, but little hope is entertained for his recovery.

WORKED SATURDAY AFTERNOON THERE—BY SAVING SUGAR

A striking illustration of the value of patriotic speaking was afforded last Saturday, when the Philadelphia Count Four Minute Men of the Pennsylvania Council of National Defense were urged to solve a labor situation which was disturbing officials of the Franklin sugar refinery. There were hundreds of tons of sugar to be loaded and unloaded at the Delaware river wharves and the officials were anxious to have the stevedores give up their customary Saturday half day. After a hard weeks work the men could not be made to understand why they should give up the week-end relaxation. All pleas of the company and offers of increased pay for Saturday afternoon work proved unavailing. Three soldier speakers of the Four Minute Men, Privates George H. Langford and Paul Jones of Pei-shing's army, and Private Edmund Farahlin, of the famous Canadian contingent of the Black Watch, were dispatched to the wharves. The soldiers gave the stevedores an idea of

PRESIDENT HAS APPEALED TO MINERS

Addresses Proclamation to Mine Workers and Owners Asking Co-operation and Full Time

HITS AT SHIRKER FROM DUTY

The President has issued the following proclamation:
To All Those Engaged in Coal Mining:
The existing scarcity of coal is creating a grave danger—in fact the most serious which confronts us—and calls for prompt and vigorous action on the part of both operators and miners. Without an adequate supply of our war program will be retarded; the effectiveness of our fighting forces in France will be lessened; the lives of our soldiers will be unnecessarily endangered and their hardships increased, and there will be much suffering in many homes throughout the country during the coming winter.

I am well aware that your ranks have been seriously depleted by the draft by voluntary enlistment, and by the demands of other essential industries. This handicap can be overcome, however, and sufficient coal can be mined in spite of it, if every one connected with the industry, from the highest official to the youngest boy will give his best work each day for the full number of work hours. The operators must be zealous as never before to bring about the highest efficiency of management, to establish the best possible working conditions, and to accord fair treatment to every workman. The miners should report for work every day, unless prevented by unavoidable causes, and should not only stay in the mines the full time, but also see to it that they get out more coal than ever before. The other workers in and about the mines should work as regularly and faithfully so that the work of the miner may not be retarded in any way. This will be especially necessary from this time forward for your numbers may be further lessened by the draft, which will induct into the army your fair share of those not essential to industry. Those who are drafted but who are essential will be given deferred classification and it is their friends and neighbors to hold them in high regard for doing so. The only worker who deserves the condemnation of his community is the one who fails to give his best in this crisis; what industrial relaxation here meant to the boys "over there" and called for over-time volunteers. The stevedores, having a better understanding of the situation responded in a body and every man stuck to the job. The result was cargo congestion relieved and a big service done both to the civilian population here and the army boys abroad.

Nearly 10,000 women are now employed in the offices of the war department at Washington.

WOODROW WILSON
The White House, August 5, 1918.

AND THE LITTLE OLD FORD RAMBLED BACK TOWARDS CLEARFIELD AGAIN

A Bradford township man came to Clearfield along about the latter part of July and as it was more or less foggy along the river when he started home his ideas became somewhat fogged, or at least so it is alleged.

A madder man never lived the intervening three miles to his home. The Bradford man, who is a well known "Squire Chorpington" of the town, arrived at the village of Woodland, and made information against a young man whom he styled as the son of his trouble and Constable Rayner went out to Woodland and collected $5.00 from each of fourteen of them to pay damages and costs, including wounded feelings.

Two of the alleged mischief makers refused to settle and deciding to give the prosecutor a taste of his own medicine also came in to "Squire Chorpington" and had their Bradford township friend indicted for violating the automobile law in running an automobile while intoxicated. The hearing in this case has not been held yet.

MACHINERY IS READY FOR THE NEW

War Department Urges Early Passage Upon Boards To Prepare

WILL REGISTER AS BEFORE

Immediate preparations for the registration of men within the draft age limits proposed in the bills now before Congress have been ordered by the war department in telegrams sent to state draft headquarters and arrangements will be made for the establishment of a registration board in each of the voting precincts in Pennsylvania.

The telegram received at the state headquarters has been sent in substance to local boards so that they can begin their preparations and the state authorities will get into touch within a day with such authorities whose co-operation will be required.

The date for registration will depend upon the progress of the bill, but the telegram indicates that everything is to be put in readiness.

Pennsylvania has sent approximately 168,575 men into the United States military service either through general or special calls made under the draft in a little more than a year, according to figures compiled at the state draft headquarters.

Broader provisions for exemptions have been written into the new manpower bill, now before Congress, so that the nation's war industrial efforts may not be upset by undue large withdrawals of men over 35 years of age for military service.

Provost Marshal General Clegg, appearing before the Senate committee, explained that he deemed it advisable to substitute the words "occupations and avocations" for the word "industries" in the existing law in the matter of exempting industrial exemption. This would make possible a more liberal interpretation of the law and prevent the induction into the army of many men performing essential work at home and yet not actually in industrial occupations.

not the one who accepts deferred classification and works regularly and diligently to increase the coal output. A great task is to be performed. The operators and their staffs alone can not do it, nor can the mine workers alone do it; but both parties, working hand in hand with a grim determination to rid the country of its greatest obstacle to winning the war, can do it. It is with full confidence that I call upon you to assume the burden of producing an ample supply of coal. You will, I am sure, accept this burden and will successfully carry it through and in so doing you will be performing a service just as worthy as service in the trenches, and will win the applause and gratitude of the whole nation.

RICKENBACKER FIND A HUN WHO'S A GOOD SPORT. HOPES TO MEET HIM

(Copyright, 1918, by United Press)

With The American Airmen In France, July 10.—(By Mail.)—"There is a certain German airman I'd like to meet after the war, if he lives and I do," said Lieut. Eddie Rickenbacker, American ace and former auto racer.

"If we meet in the states, I'll buy him an ice cream soda, and if it's in Germany, I'll expect him to buy us both beers. He flies No. 16 in a certain German squadron. His machine is an observing and fighting type combined. For a German, he is an exceptional sport. We had four days successive rendezvous together without result, and it was real fighting all the time.

"The first morning I hopped into the can and went up to a pink tea, looking for anything in general and nothing in particular. I soon spotted No. 16 and he spotted me. We jockeyed for position, both of us trying to get the blind spot in front of the sun.

"Finally I got under his tail, after half an hour of maneuvering this way and that, and let him have it. The gun fired two shots and jammed. There was nothing to do but zoom off home, which I did.

"Next morning I went up at the same hour over the same spot.

"There was Heinie No. 16, escorted by two German fighting planes. He was higher than me, but I was higher than they, so I jockeyed for position. Again the gun jammed, and I fell into a wrille to get out of his range.

"When I zoomed away, I got the gun working again, and again jockeyed for position with Heinie, whose two fighters had been driven off by other Americans by now. He began shooting out of his belly at me, and I zigzagged to dodge his bullets, which were whizzing by me.

"Then we began playing around and kept it up for three-quarters of an hour, each trying to get a bead on the other. Finally I got in the blind spot and started down on him. Again my gun jammed and of course he had the edge on me.

"Instead of running, which would have been more dangerous, since he had the altitude after I dived past him, I again jockeyed for position, though I knew my gun wouldn't shoot. I wanted to fox him and make him think I was still in the fight.

"It worked, for after a few minutes more of maneuvering he decided it was enough for a day, since neither of us could get position. So he fired two shots wild as a goodbye, waved his hand and went home. It was a good thing for me, because my motor went cuckoo a minute later and I struggled home on a glide, barely making it over the lines.

"The boys had seen me come down and my mechanics were beginning to figure their eskimo wasn't coming back, when I finally got in, traveling most of the way in an ambulance. "Next morning I had to borrow a plane, and I saw him directly above me several times. But he didn't shoot—that is, with his gun. I saw him take a picture of me with his camera, and finally he went off while I tried to get position close enough to shoot.

"Next morning I again borrowed a machine and went after him, with two guns. He was there, taking pictures. We began maneuvering for position, and finally I got it and let him have it. Then one gun jammed. Before I could get a bead on him with the other, he was letting me have it. I wrilled and came back at him still higher.

"Finally both our guns jammed, and both of us knew the other couldn't shoot, though we tried to repair the guns. But no luck. So we wobbled each other goodbye with our flappers and both departed. Next day I was sent away for a few days and the boys said Heinie No. 16 wasn't here, either. Some day we'll settle it, and a lot of bets that were placed on us by the mechanics."

THE PROPER SPIRIT

Last year's class of C. H. S. are deserving of all the praise that we can give them in their efforts towards lifting the cannon out of the mud and giving them a place they deserve. The class could just as well have spent their money for a blow-out of some kind and no one could have had a kick coming. The mounted cannon will add grace and beauty to our wonderful high school and will serve as a monument for years to come to the class of 1918. It is just possible that this high ideal grew out of the patriotic and civic zeal inspired by the organization and workings of the Modern Problems Club.

WILL PAY BIG DIVIDENDS

Going through Curwensville recently we noticed the new bungalows being built by the Crescent Refractories Company on the side hill overlooking the plant. It occurred to us that this action on the part of the Crescent people was worth mention and commendation as these houses, though small, are of excellent quality and pleasing to look upon. For years and years companies considered four walls and a roof a house and reaped as their reward the very poorest and worst class of laborers; in fact there was a certain element who cared for nothing better than a roof and were content with that. Because the workers were content, the companies erroneously thought that was the only requirement, forgetting that a good house would draw a good family and a good family would stay with them, unlike the floaters who cared nothing for home surroundings. In going about mining towns, the people making up that town can be quite accurately judged by the kind of houses they live in. The war is teaching us a lot of lessons and not the least of these is the value of a good working man and what he deserves as a home to live in. The hill approaching the new houses of the Crescent company was in very bad shape but has recently been resurfaced and is now in the best of condition. We understand Mr. Charles Sweney is responsible for this improvement and although we do not know this gentleman it will be our pleasure to meet him and offer congratulations.

All sailors are superstitious, but none is so completely under this influence as the old deep-sea fisherman. Nothing would induce a skipper of the old school to sail on a Friday. To speak of pigs aboard a fishing trawler is fatal to success for that trip. Similar misfortunes will result from taking off a hatch cover and laying it on the deck upside down. Other skippers believe that to wash your face in the middle of a trip will break a spell of calm weather.

Every citizen of this county should carefully read over the proposed amendments to the state constitution which are printed next to this column. No duty of the citizen is so important as the protection of his state government through an interest in any changes proposed therein.

It is hard to understand President Wilson's sponsorship of the candidacy of Henry Ford for Congress from Michigan. Henry is a crackjack at building flivvers, light destroyers and tanks but as a congressman he is quite apt to engage in another of those peace jaunts. Keep Henry building autos and destroyers. Every man to his own job. We want no pacifists in our Congress.

It is interesting and significant to note that in Tinicum Township of Chester county Wm. C. Sproul, Republican candidate for Governor, received every one of the two hundred forty votes cast. This is what they think of our candidate for governor in his home territory.

Every citizen of this county should carefully read over the proposed amendments to the state constitution which are printed next to this column. No duty of the citizen is so important as the protection of his state government through an interest in any changes proposed therein.

It is hard to understand President Wilson's sponsorship of the candidacy of Henry Ford for Congress from Michigan. Henry is a crackjack at building flivvers, light destroyers and tanks but as a congressman he is quite apt to engage in another of those peace jaunts. Keep Henry building autos and destroyers. Every man to his own job. We want no pacifists in our Congress.

It is interesting and significant to note that in Tinicum Township of Chester county Wm. C. Sproul, Republican candidate for Governor, received every one of the two hundred forty votes cast. This is what they think of our candidate for governor in his home territory.

THE PROPER SPIRIT

Last year's class of C. H. S. are deserving of all the praise that we can give them in their efforts towards lifting the cannon out of the mud and giving them a place they deserve. The class could just as well have spent their money for a blow-out of some kind and no one could have had a kick coming. The mounted cannon will add grace and beauty to our wonderful high school and will serve as a monument for years to come to the class of 1918. It is just possible that this high ideal grew out of the patriotic and civic zeal inspired by the organization and workings of the Modern Problems Club.

WILL PAY BIG DIVIDENDS

Going through Curwensville recently we noticed the new bungalows being built by the Crescent Refractories Company on the side hill overlooking the plant. It occurred to us that this action on the part of the Crescent people was worth mention and commendation as these houses, though small, are of excellent quality and pleasing to look upon. For years and years companies considered four walls and a roof a house and reaped as their reward the very poorest and worst class of laborers; in fact there was a certain element who cared for nothing better than a roof and were content with that. Because the workers were content, the companies erroneously thought that was the only requirement, forgetting that a good house would draw a good family and a good family would stay with them, unlike the floaters who cared nothing for home surroundings. In going about mining towns, the people making up that town can be quite accurately judged by the kind of houses they live in. The war is teaching us a lot of lessons and not the least of these is the value of a good working man and what he deserves as a home to live in. The hill approaching the new houses of the Crescent company was in very bad shape but has recently been resurfaced and is now in the best of condition. We understand Mr. Charles Sweney is responsible for this improvement and although we do not know this gentleman it will be our pleasure to meet him and offer congratulations.

All sailors are superstitious, but none is so completely under this influence as the old deep-sea fisherman. Nothing would induce a skipper of the old school to sail on a Friday. To speak of pigs aboard a fishing trawler is fatal to success for that trip. Similar misfortunes will result from taking off a hatch cover and laying it on the deck upside down. Other skippers believe that to wash your face in the middle of a trip will break a spell of calm weather.

ASKS $10,000 FOR 'LIVE WIRE' INJURY

Harry H. Dalby, a locomotive engineer of DuBois, entered suit in the Prothonotary's office this morning against The Central District Telephone company in which he asks $10,000 damages for personal injuries received when he came in contact with a live wire hanging from a pole of the defendant company in front of his residence in Sandy township, immediately adjoining DuBois borough.

The accident occurred August 13, 1916 and according to Dalby's allegations caused him permanent injury. The wire which shocked Dalby belonged to the DuBois Street Railway company which was using the telephone company's poles. Workmen were engaged in repairing the line and had cut the pole in front of Dalby's residence off at the ground with the result that the wire hung low over the sidewalk.

Dalby coming out of his gate noticed the wire and was endeavoring to remove it when he came in contact with a "live wire" carrying 1100 volts of electricity. He was knocked down and his left hand and arm badly burned, the little finger being almost severed from his hand.

Since that time he suffered great pain and was incapacitated for a long time and is permanently injured. Dalby's attorneys are A. M. Liveright and James A. Gleason.

HOW THE COBWEBS OF RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY ARE BEING WIPED AWAY

"NO TIME TO BE HATING EACH OTHER"

By Arthur E. Hungerford
London, Aug. 10—"There is no time to be hating each other for the love of God," exclaimed a Roman Catholic priest, when a newcomer from the States remarked about his work in a Y. M. C. A. hut in England. This remark has gone up and down the American camps in France and England and typifies the spirit of Roman Catholics and Protestants alike in working for the common good of the American soldier.

At a great rest camp in England where thousands of American troops are sent after landing to rest for six or seven days before going on to France, a man, who back home is a Presbyterian minister, may be heard urging Roman Catholic soldiers to make their confessions and to go to mass. More than that he arranges for the priest to visit the camp, turn his office over for a confessional and prepares the hut for mass at 9.30 on Sunday morning.

This man is the Rev. G. William Russell, who was assistant pastor of Bethlehem Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. Here is a typical example of how the cobwebs of the spiritual warfare of the Roman Catholics. It took place on a Friday evening.

"How many of you are Roman Catholics?" he asked of a crowd of soldiers gathered in a "Y" hut. More than half of them raised their hands.

"Men, I have arranged for Father Gile, an English Chaplain, to come tomorrow night to receive your confessions. He will use my office. He will celebrate Mass on Sunday morning at 9.30 in his hut. Won't you come? I am a Protestant, but you men have just escaped the perils of the summer. Attend mass and then write home to your mothers or wives or sweethearts that one of the first things you did upon landing was to make your confession, attend mass and thank God for your safety. We have a Roman Catholic secretary here. If any of you want to meet him you may do so by asking for him."

Nearly every man attended mass and many called on the Rev. Mr. Russell to thank him for giving them the opportunity to do so.

At a camp in Ireland, where the American Y. M. C. A. is compelled to use a building, the original owners of which put a stipulation in the deed that it should never be used for a Roman Catholic service of any kind, the Association secretary every Sunday morning arranges a church party for the Roman Catholic soldiers and carries them in trucks to their church three miles away. After service he brings them back.

The services conducted by the Y. M. C. A. are attended not only by Protestants, but also by Jews and Roman Catholics. They are not formal to say the least. At some of the huts the men are allowed to smoke during religious services. This comes as a shock to many of the new workers and ministers. It must be remembered, however, that the services are held in "Y" huts which not only serve as the religious, social and recreational centers but frequently as the general stores of the camps. As one secretary put it:

"I would rather have a religious service in a hut chock full of men smoking, than a more formal service with only one or two men inside and all the rest turned out of doors. A religion that won't stand every day wear and tear won't last long over here. I have learned many things since I came over here. That is one of them."

"Harris Dickson the writer was right when he said that many of us men came over here with long faces, but thank God they are growing shorter every day. Mine has grown considerably shorter. I have learned over here the practical side of religion."

A nice thing happened to the Rev. Mr. Russell. A Philadelphia boy was afraid his mother might worry about the kind of life he was leading. He told Mr. Russell about it. "Don't worry about that. I will write to her," he said. He did so and in reply received a letter saying in part: "I attended the farewell service given you at Bethlehem Church Philadelphia. I contributed to the money given you, but I did not realize that it would be my boy that you would be over there."

SICKENING GERMANY

Steadily disease gains on the German people. Intestinal disorder are rampant. Tuberculosis has increased 75 per cent over 1914 and pneumonia mortality has doubled. A strange kind of influenza prevalent in the empire has extended to the armies. Infant mortality is five a hundred greater than before the war, a great increase. All this, or the most of it, is to be attributed to the lower food ration. It has been estimated that for a healthy and normal life 2400 calories of food are necessary daily. The present daily allowance in Germany is just half that amount, or 1200 calories. And it must go down unless great aid comes from Russia.—Topeka Capital.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Holy communion service was observed in Grace Lutheran church Sunday forenoon.

Herold Daugherty, who has been working for a bridge company for some time past, is home for a short vacation.

Henry Kirk, a son of H. P. Kirk, Curwensville's jeweler, is wrestling with an attack of measles at the home of a relative in Philipsburg.

Messrs. Manuel and Paul Harley have contracted for the painting of several houses and a barn at Hyne City. They are a pair of painters whose work has always stood the test.

Supintendent Al Maurer with his family and some friends autoed out to the Bickford hunting camp yesterday and spent the day in the cool of the shade.

It is said among real estate men that Jerry McNaull has purchased the old Schoed property on Susquehanna avenue from the owners, Mr. and Mrs. John Shearer, paying the sum of $2,500 for the same.

A four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Erhard died last Thursday and was buried from the home of its grandparents on Meadow street on Saturday afternoon. The little one had been ill for several weeks.

A number of Curwensville people accompanied the Crescent band to Giampan yesterday afternoon where the raising of a big flag took place. One of the largest crowds that has been in Giampan for many days was in attendance.

A letter from Sergeant Ray Hile states that the thermometer at Camp Lee last week registered 117 degrees and that forty ambulances were kept busy hauling heat prostrations to the hospitals. He reports all of the Curwensville boys in good health, and that some of them are making enviable records as sharp shooters on the rifle range.

The friends of John Caldwell, who has been partially paralyzed for more than a year and also suffering from other diseases, will be pleased to learn that he is slowly getting better and is now able to walk about with the aid of crutches. It is to be hoped that he will recover fully, and be able to greet his town friends in person before long.

A brakeman on one of the B & P. freight trains had one of his arms badly crushed Saturday afternoon by having it caught between the cars. The accident occurred while some work was being done on the road between the brick yard and the station. Dr. King attended him and he was sent to the hospital on the noon train. His brother, who was also a trainman, was killed about a week ago while on duty.

The Curwensville Progress man was informed yesterday afternoon that a twenty-five foot vein of hard fire clay had been uncovered on one of the smaller farms along the river between this place and Lumber City, and that the man who had but recently become the owner of the place, had been offered the sum of $1500 outright for the material. We have some reason for believing this authentic, as we were told several weeks ago that the clay had been developed by men who were prospecting for coal. We were also requested not to name the exact location of the name of the owner of the land for the present as it is expected that a larger offer will be made for the clay.

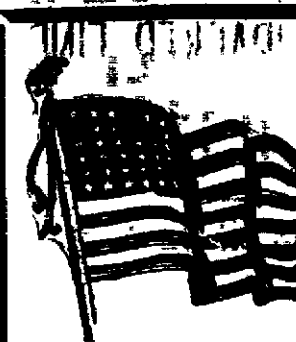

With both creek bridges closed for repairs it is pretty hard for motorists to get anywhere on the south side of Anderson creek. It is only a few years ago that the bridge at the south end of Filbert street was re-floored and repaired at considerable expense.

to the borough. It was supposed at that time that the floor being put down would last for twenty years. The old covered bridge has needed a new floor for a good while therefore there ought to be no kick coming from that direction. Having both bridges closed at the same time makes it mighty inconvenient just the same, but Street Commissioner Sweeney is going to hustle the job along just as fast as he can, so that by the middle of the week, probably, both driveways will be in commission again.

Curwensville people are wondering whether it would be cheaper for this municipality to buy an entire new fire fighting apparatus or to obtain possession of the water plant. Good water is a necessity at any and all times, while fires only occur at intervals and the destruction is always covered partially by insurance. With the water rentals from consumers, together with what the borough is paying out each year for fire protection, would in a few years pay out the purchase price. It is also true that the borough does need some new and more adequate fire apparatus, yet it is believed that most any fire can be controlled with the apparatus now on hand if handled properly. If the fire company is shy on members and have less than is necessary for active service, then let them let it be known and there are enough middle aged men in this town yet who would offer their service in time of need and who can do good work under proper direction. The Rescues have done good work in this town, and no doubt those who still hold membership would work just as hard and faithful to save property as they ever did. To equip the fire department as it ought to be would cost the borough almost half as much as the purchase of the water plant. The people are thinking and talking on both of these important questions, and it will only be a matter of a little time until they will be asked to decide their preference—the water plant or a new fire equipment.

While the offer of the Bickford Refractories company to stock three thousand tons of coal for domestic use this winter is a laudable one and will be appreciated by the people who use ton of that commodity for furnace use, it will not begin to supply the general demand. In conversation with a local dealer the other day we asked him the question "Will there be a lack of coal for domestic use in Curwensville this winter?" He replied that "three thousand tons would help out materially, but that there was more than three times that amount consumed in this town every winter

Coal may not be as hard to get this winter as last, but it all depends upon the severity of the season. It is sure to advance a few cents per bushel over that now asked, for the reason that every fellow who has or controls a bank thinks he can make a small fortune in shipping it and putting it in the hands of brokers who put it on the market. I have orders for all of the coal that I can get mined right now, and yet a very few of my customers have had any put in their bins ahead. For my part I would rather see a surplus of coal in the Curwensville market than a scarcity. But just so long as small bankers ship their coal, just so long the price will be higher than it ought to be." People who are putting in their winter supply of coal now are making no mistake.

One of the town physicians, and he travels around enough to know, says that no cases of fever have come to his notice as yet but had not some cases received attention when they did fever certainly would have developed. He strongly advises the people to boil their drinking water all of this month and part of next, August and September are the seasons of the year when fevers of all kinds are most likely to develop.

MAY A PREACHER SWEAR?

Rev. Sam R. Leland, sent to England by the Y. M. C. A., was one of fifty-seven of that organization on the Oronsa as she was torpedoed. When the British destroyer picked up the cold and half dead victims Mr. Leland said to A. E. Hungerford, in charge of the party:

"Can a man resign from the Y. M. C. A. service at a time like this—I mean, to enlist in the army?"

"Of course you may," replied the secretary.

"If I don't!" exclaimed the preacher.

A famous English bishop said solemnly when told of the American preacher's remark:

"Under the circumstances I think it was wholly justified."

HANDSOME FLAG IS RAISED AT GRAMPIAN

Hundreds Reverently Bare Heads
As Old Glory Is Flung To The Breeze With Song and Music

SPEAKING WAS OF THE BEST

A beautiful Star Spangled Banner floats over the Grampian Hills today after a most inspiring and patriotic meeting held at rampian yesterday afternoon. The weather man provided an ideal sunny afternoon for the flag raising, in fact he threw in a measure or two for luck which compelled the assembled hundreds to seek shade for the remainder of the program. Promptly at three o'clock Old Glory was unfurled to breeze to the music of the Crescent Band of Cur-wensville and the Liberty Chorus of Clearfield after which Chairman C.
A. Woods, Esq., permitted the crowd to vote on whether to go to the grove or not. The ayes had it and the procession quickly formed and marched to the grove where fine addresses were made by Wm. A. Hargerty, Esq., A.
R. Chase, Esq., Walter Welch, Esq.,
L. W. Edwards, Esq., and Squire
Woods. The speaking was very much prolonged but not too long for the patriotic people of Grampian who stood through all of it and went away determined to fight by working until Kaiser Bill is fully satisfied that America stands for the freedom of the people of the world. A collection was taken for the Red Cross which netted almost one hundred dollars.

pated in by the I. O. O. F., U. M. W.

carried out.

REGIMENT CAPTURES 500 GERMANS

Today's Philadelphia Public Ledger says:
"In a letter received last week Roy
S. Smeal, of Clearfield, a member of Company L, Twenty-third Infantry, told his mother that his regiment had captured 500 Germans and a number of machine guns during the drive of July 18-19, and while he would like to run home to say 'howdy' to his parents, he recognized that duty demanded that he stay on the job of exterminating the Hun. A day or two later he was killed in action. Roy was nineteen years old, and had worked his way up to a sergeant's rank.

"How Fine to Shop at Such a Store"

Remarked an out-of-town visitor to this city recently to a friend who was with her, after having made a tour of our store for some needs.

The woman seemed to be particularly impressed with our willingness to help and the friendly, amiable spirit pervading the store and the salespeople—as well as those customers who happened to be shopping at the time.

Have YOU ever tested this store to find out the complete satisfaction it affords to folks hereabouts?
